

Fran Inman, Commissioner

Fran Inman directs government relations and community affairs activities for Majestic Realty Co., one of the nation's largest privately held real estate development companies. With a real estate portfolio totaling approximately 70 million square feet of commercial properties, Majestic Realty has offices in Los Angeles; Atlanta; Bethlehem, Dallas, Denver and Las Vegas. Last year, Inman was co-Chair of BizFed's Goods Movement Committee.

Inman is recognized as a leader in the push to improve the nation's failing transportation infrastructure. With Majestic properties playing a critical role in the supply chain, Inman is an outspoken advocate for transportation infrastructure funding in Los Angeles and beyond. Widely recognized for her leadership and ability to develop solutions and build consensus, Inman possesses a unique portfolio of skills that combine a profound understanding of the balance required to build sustainable communities. Inman was initially appointed by both Governor Schwarzenegger and reappointed by Governor Brown to the California Transportation Commission. In 2013, Inman was also appointed to the National Freight Advisory Committee and co-chairs the sub-committee.

Widely recognized for her leadership and ability to develop solutions and build consensus, Inman possesses a unique portfolio of skills and a profound understanding of the balance required to build sustainable communities. The Southern California Council of Governments (SCAG) recently honored Inman as 2013 Business Leader of the Year.

Inman served as the chair of the board of the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce and remains active on its executive committee. Inman also serves on the board of governors for the Los Angeles County Economic Development Corporation (LAEDC), and as the vice chair for the California Business Properties Association (CBPA). She is the former chair of the San Gabriel Valley Economic Partnership (SGVEP) and is also a founding board member of FuturePorts and a member of Inland Action. She is on the Advisory Board of Mobility 21 and was a founding member of the Public Infrastructure Advisory Commission. She is also a long-time member of the Coalition of America's Gateway and Trade Corridors.

Also recognized as a leader in the philanthropic community, Inman is the founding president of the Majestic Realty Foundation. Established in 2002, the Majestic Realty Foundation provides grants and other support to various charitable community partners that work the areas of youth, family, education, health, and violence prevention in the communities where Majestic Realty Co. does business.

Equally passionate about her role in the nonprofit sector, Inman focuses her leadership efforts to help expand capacity and build coalitions with the organizations that serve at-risk and under-served neighborhoods. Inman further demonstrates her commitment to active community engagement through her service as former board chair of THINK Together, a nationally-recognized non-profit providing extended learning programs that serve more than 100,000 at-risk and low-income students daily across California. She serves as board member for the Center for Nonprofit Management, and on advisory boards for the QueensCare Health & Faith Partnership and the Los Angeles Biomedical Research Institute (LA BioMed). Inman is also a trustee for Three Square, the regional food bank in Las Vegas, Nevada, and serves on the board of trustees for Redlands University as well as the UCLA Luskin School of Public Affairs Advisory Board.

A graduate of California State University, Fullerton, Inman holds both a BA and a MBA in finance. In 2010, Inman was awarded an Honorary Doctorate of Business Administration from Woodbury University. She and her husband Ron have three adult children – Chris (and Emily) Inman (Denver, CO); Kelly (and Todd) Rohs (Ft. Collins, CO) and Melinda Inman (Wheaton, IL) – and the delight of her life, granddaughters Katherine, Caroline, and Claire Inman (Denver, CO).
