

December 1, 2009
Susan Bransen
Associate Deputy Director
California Transportation Commission

Dear Ms. Bransen:

I've been informed that there is an item to include complete streets in the draft RTP.

I am writing in favor of complete streets.

I believe it will make California competitive with the the rest of the world in terms of clean transportation. California is a place of forward thinking ideas. It was in the 1970's that the California city of Davis had and award winning neighborhood development that made pedestrian and bicycles an important part of the community. Now, more than ever, we need to look into these ideas again, for the reasons of health, energy and civitas.

Thank you for your time.
David Pura
California, 90026